LAST SCHOOL: BUTTE COLLEGE

Defying his age (19) and lack of major college experience, Rodgers emerged as one of the top field generals in the Pac-10 in his rookie campaign at Cal last season ... named 2004 preseason Pac-10 Player of the Year by Athlon Sports ... staged one of the best passing seasons of any sophomore in conference history, completing 61.6 percent of his passes (215-of-349) for 2,903 yards, 19 touchdowns and only five interceptions in 13 games to earn honorable mention All-Pac-10 notice ... his crowning moment came in the Insight Bowl, where – despite missing his All-American wide receiver Geoff McArthur (fractured arm) in the lineup – he set all-time Cal bowl records for passing yardage (394) and highest completion percentage (77.1%, 27-of-35), and accounted for four touchdowns (two passing, two rushing) while throwing no interceptions ... completed 15-of-17 passes for 245 yards in the second half, when Cal exploded for 31 points to overtake favored Virginia Tech in a 52-49 win ... produced the third- and fourth-highest total offensive outputs in the school's 121-year history in his final two 2003 games against Stanford (414 yards) and Virginia Tech (424 yards) ... also owns four of top 15 total offensive games in Cal annals ... his 2,903 passing yards last season rank second on Cal's single season list, even surpassing 2003 NFL first-round draft pick Kyle Boller's 2,805 yards at Cal the previous season ... set a school record for lowest interception percentage with five picks in 349 attempts (his 1.43% eclipsed the old mark of 1.69% by Gary Graumann in 1977) and ranked third on Cal's all-time single-season list for pass efficiency with a 146.6 rating ... dating back to his 2002 season at Butte JC, he has thrown 47 touchdown passes and only nine interceptions over the last two years combined ... earned JC All-America honors in his only year at Butte College, where he threw for 2,408 yards, 28 touchdowns and only four interceptions last season ... a JC teammate of Cal tight end Garrett Cross ... 2003

... did not start until Week 5 at Illinois, but guided the Bears to a 7-3 record as a starter from that point forward ... served with Adimchinobe Echemandu as one of two offensive team captains ... spliced together two remarkable interception-free streaks during the season, opening his Cal career with 98 passes without a pick, then running off another 105-attempt skein that ended on his final pass at Oregon Nov. 8 ... with the Bears facing must-win situations in consecutive weeks, Rodgers launched 300-yard aerial assaults in victories over Washington (54-7) and Stanford (28-16) to clinch the school's first bowl berth since 1996 ... earned Pac-10 Offensive Player of the Week honors twice in three weeks due to his exemplary play at Arizona State Nov. 1 (17-of-22 for 307 yards, 3 TDs and 0 INTs) and vs. Washington Nov. 15 (20-of-33 for 348 yards, 3 TDs, 0 INTs) ... in three of the last five weeks of the regular season, engineered the three widest-margin Pac-10 wins by a Cal team in the past 11 years (42-14 over Arizona, 51-23 over Arizona State and 54-7 vs. Washington) ... passed for 300 yards or more in five games, tying the school season record held by Pat Barnes ... averaged 319.1 yards over his last five outings – a period when he completed 68.2% of his passes (105-of-154) for 1,596 yards, 12 touchdowns and two interceptions ... besides the Offensive MVP performance at the Insight Bowl, he capped an extraordinary year by rolling up 414 yards in total offense (359 passing, 55 rushing) in the regular season finale at Stanford, the highest total in the 106-year history of the Big Game (old mark was 409 by Jim Plunkett in 1969) and the third-highest day in total offense in Cal history ... only real blemish on his season came in the 35-21 loss to Oregon State, when he endured a nightmarish 9-of-34 passing day that netted only 52 yards ... if that game is subtracted from his totals, he completed 65.4% of his attempts (206-315) for 2,851 yards in his other 12 games ... ripped off three straight 200-yard passing games against Utah (15-25, 224 yards, 2 TDs), Illinois (20-37, 263, 1 TD) and USC (18-25, 217 yards, 2 TDs) early in the year.

Junior College/High School/Personal: Completed 164-of-265 attempts (61.9%) to lead Butte to a 10-1 record, a NorCal Conference championship and a No. 2 national ranking ... averaged 16.2 yards per completion and also rushed for 294 yards and seven TDs ... named his conference's and region's MVP and also garnered third team All-America accolades from JC Gridwire ... member of the JC Football Network's All-USA Iron Man team ... passed for 251 yards and two touchdowns in leading Butte to a 37-20 win over San Joaquin Delta in the Holiday Bowl ... voted MVP of the bowl game ... SuperPrep magazine listed him on its top JuCo 100, rating him as the 41st best JC player in the country ... starred at Pleasant Valley HS in Chico, where he was a two-time all-section choice in 2000 and '01 ... passed a combined 4,419 yards during his junior and senior seasons ... set single-game school records for touchdowns (6) and all-purpose yards (440), and single-season marks for passing yards (2,176) and total yards (2,466) ... parents are Ed and Darla Rodgers ... born Dec. 2, 1983 ... undeclared major.

BEARS ATTRACT ANOTHER NATIONALLY RANKED RECRUITING CLASS IN 2004

Riding the momentum of its 2003 Insight Bowl victory over Virginia Tech, Cal produced its second straight nationally ranked recruiting class earlier this year.

Head coach Jeff Tedford and his coaching staff, which led Cal to a third-place finish in the Pac-10, continue to reap the benefits of establishing strong recruiting ties within the state of California. All but two of the Bears' recruits hail from the Golden State, with Australia-born punter-placekicker David Lonie – a transfer from Ellsworth College in Iowa – and Texas prep star running back Justin Forsett the only prospects signed from outside California. A year ago, Cal's 2003 class was comprised exclusively of in-state talent.

The Bears signed an equal number of players from Northern and Southern California, including 10 student-athletes that received All-American accolades this past season. The entire group receiving national recognition, including a No. 17 ranking from PrepStar magazine.

"We are extremely pleased with the overall quality of this year's class, and believe we have addressed needs at several positions," said Tedford. "It is our goal to take Cal football to the next level and we believe this new group can help us attain that goal. I would like to commend my staff for all their hard work and also thank our current players, who have become our best ambassadors in the recruiting process. It's very gratifying to know we have taken another important step towards building a championship program."

Reports from several media outlets and national recruiting services indicate that Tedford and the Bears made quite a recruiting haul in 2004. Some facts and figures to reinforce that perception:

- Five of the Bears' recruits were ranked among the nation's top 11 at their respective positions, according to at least one major recruiting service.
- Insiders.com listed nine Cal recruits among its Pac-10 Area Hot 100, including six Berkeley-bound players among its Top 50 prospects.
- Rivals.com tabbed five Golden Bears among its top 31 in the All-West region, including two of the top 12 players. Rivals.com also tabbed nine Cal recruits among the state's Top 100, including five of the 23 highest-ranked prospects in California.
- SuperPrep's All-Far West Team lists five Bears among its first 41 players, and 10 in the West's Top 116.

Offensive line was the most popular position for the recruiting class, as five of the Bears' signings were interior linemen. The group features two of the Top 40 offensive guards in the nation in John Gibson and Noris Malele, according to Rivals.com.

In addition, the five new Bears that were ranked among the nation's Top 11 at their respective positions are: Marshawn Lynch (2nd running back, Rivals.com), Phillip Mbakogu (4th strongside defensive end, Rivals.com; 6th defensive end, TheInsiders.com), Worrell Williams (6th outside linebacker, Rivals.com), Nate Longshore (8th pro-style quarterback, Rivals.com) and Virdell Larkins (11th cornerback, Rivals.com).
