BEAR TRAX: YOUTH TENNIS ADVANTAGE

COLLEGE PATHWAYS PROJECT

In October 2000, Youth Tennis Advantage launched Bear Trax—a college-based learning center at the University of California—to serve children from low-income communities in Oakland, Calif. The center offers 40 YTA participants intensive tutoring and advanced tennis training with Cal college students. The objective of the project is to form lasting bonds between diverse, low-income communities and higher education campuses in efforts to increase the number of Oakland children who go to college.

Tennis instructors and after-school educational staff at four neighborhood-based programs maintain the core fundamentals of the Bear Trax program. Laney College serves as an intermediate site between the neighborhood programs and UC Berkeley. Through a partnership with the tennis program at Cal, YTA creates a pathway from disadvantaged communities to the university campus.

YOUTH TENNIS ADVANTAGE

PROGRAM PLAN

Participants are picked up by a UC Berkeley bus and taken to the tennis complex on the Cal campus. Two YTA program staff escort participants on the trip where they receive tennis instruction, followed by a meeting with Cal students who provide academic tutoring until participants are taken home. A partnership with the Cal men's tennis team anchors the program at the university while service learning and student activities programs on campus supply college student tutors.

At this time last year, the Bear Trax program was launching its new after-school program on site at Cal's Hellman Tennis Complex with a capacity of 20 youth. The program goal is to accommodate 40 children and teens who are passionate about both tennis and academic success. Participating youth have their eyes intently focused on the tennis ball during training sessions, but are equally focused on one day attending a university to pursue their academic goals. In the summer of 2008, YTA and Bank of the West teamed up to raise more than $100,000 for the expansion of the Bear Trax program at the first annual "For the Kids Dinner".

"The university loves this program," said Cal men's tennis head coach Peter Wright. "We believe Bear Trax brings a special experience to kids from communities who might otherwise not get the chance to visit the campus. This was an experience we thought we could provide and help make a difference."

Tiffany Wong, a pre-med student in her junior year at Cal is a perfect example of a student volunteer who provides support and guidance for children who participate in the Bear Trax program.

"I enjoy the program tremendously and know that it works" said Wong. "It can make a big difference in the lives of the children who come into the program eager to learn, yet not clear about how to make the most of the available opportunities. Over time, I've seen a transformation in each child; one that has them much more focused academically and capable of engaging with adults in a mature and respectful manner."

Future goals include the proposed development of a facility dedicated specifically to the Bear Trax program. With the commitment of the university, the dedication of YTA, Cal student volunteers, and the enthusiasm of the children who participate in the program, the future of Bear Trax is in good hands.
